

News Letter

Price: 80p (IR 1.10 EURO) Monday, December 10, 2012

The pride of Northern Ireland

Since 1737
www.newsletter.co.uk

Tributes flow in for stargazing legend Moore P3

Hoax Duchess callers 'want to speak out' P11

Looks familiar? Mark's the Best man

George Best lookalike competition winner Mark O'Hare pays a visit to the childhood home of the football legend to mark the seventh anniversary of his death. Ian Best, George Best's brother, gave the contest winner a guided tour of the Burren Way property in Belfast, which is now available to rent, thanks to east Belfast regeneration group Landmark East

PICTURE: Colm Lenaghan/Pacemaker

INSIDE

Don't miss our Monday magazine

Plus

Sports Ulster

Bumper 29 pages of sports action

Ulster to escape worst of the big freeze – for now

See page 10

Loyalists whipped into frenzy – cleric

BY SAM McBRIDE
Political Correspondent
sam.mcbride@newsletter.co.uk

A LEADING Protestant cleric has accused the DUP and UUP of whipping loyalists into a frenzy and has said that the Cenotaph should not become the latest pawn in the political debate about flags.

The Very Rev Dr Houston McKelvey, who until last year was the Church of Ireland Dean of Belfast, said that it was crucial to maintain Belfast's war memorial as a "symbol of reconciliation" in the capital city, recognising that Roman Catholics and Protestants fought and died together in the world wars.

Dr McKelvey said unionists had handed a victory to Sinn Fein, and that both loyalists and republicans had "a vein of fascism".

The Cenotaph flag proposal was introduced by the DUP at last Monday night's council meeting, which decided to only fly the Union Flag from City Hall on designated days.

However, it will not come back to the full council for a decision until the New Year.

Turn to page 6

Best Western Whitehorse Hotel
Derry/Londonderry
Christmas Getaway £89.00pps

2 Nights Bed & Breakfast
£30 Gift Voucher to use in our Award Winning Restaurant
£25.00 Foyleside Shopping Centre Voucher
1 x Back, Neck & Shoulder Massage
Bottle of Bubbly in your Room On Arrival
To Book Quote BTNV12

68 Clooney Road, Campsie,
Derry/Londonderry BT47 2PA
Tel: 028 7186 0606
www.whitehorsehotel.biz